THE Secretary of War and Mrs. Baker will entertain a double box party at the Army and Navy game, in New York, Saturday, when their guests will include Gen. Nivelle, the famous French officer, with his aid, Col. Azan; the former Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. McAdoo, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ryan and Col. Ayres.

Mrs. John Stockwell, of Cleveland, who is visiting the Secretary and Mrs. Baker, will go to New York to spend Thanksgiving.

The ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Geddes will entertain at dinner this evening in honor of Vice Admiral Sir William Pakenham, who is the new commander-in-chief of the north Atlantic and West Indian station, who arrived at the embassy last night, accompanied by his flag lieutenant, Curzon, and Sir William Wiseman is also a guest at the embassy for a few days.

Baroness Romano Avezana, wife of the ambassador of Italy, will have as her guest the latter part of the week her mother, Mrs. Frederick Clark, of Staten Island.

Mrs. Meredith, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, will not observe her usual day at home tomorrow afternoon.

Senor Don J. Antonio Lopez Gutierrez, minister of Honduras, and the members of his family have canceled all of their social engagements for the present, because of the word received from their home of the serious illness of Senor Lopez's daughter, Mrs. Margarita Lopez de Parker.

Miss Craven Presented to Society.
One of the most important debut parties of the season is being given this afternoon by Mrs. T. T. Craven, wife of Capt. Craven, head of the air service of the Navy, to introduce their debutante daughter, Miss Anne Wickes Craven. The tea, to which a large company representative of diplomatic, official, Army, Navy and civilian society has been invited, will be charming in its arrangements, as Mrs. Craven, who was a debutante in Baltimore in 1898, is having it as much like her debut as possible, and at least a half dozen friends who were among her assistants on that occasion will be present this afternoon to assist. Mrs. Craven was a debutante in Baltimore in 1898, is having it as much like her debut as possible, and at least a half dozen friends who were among her assistants on that occasion will be present this afternoon to assist. Mrs. Craven was a debutante in Baltimore in 1898, is having it as much like her debut as possible, and at least a half dozen friends who were among her assistants on that occasion will be present this afternoon to assist.

Mrs. Craven is wearing for the afternoon a gown of black georgette crepe heavily beaded in rose color, and the debutante is charming in a gown of filmy white tulle encrusted with iridescent sequins and mounted over white satin. She is carrying one of the many bouquets sent her.

Mrs. Houston, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury; Mrs. Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, and Mrs. Seaton Schroeder, wife of Admiral Schroeder, will preside at the tea table and the other assistants include Miss Romano Avezana, daughter of the Italian ambassador, and Baroness Romano Avezana; Miss Arlette Scates, daughter of the superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis; Miss Elizabeth Chavrus, daughter of the commandant of the Naval Academy; Miss Isabelle Bruce of Annapolis, cousin of the debutante; Miss Aletia O'Neal; Miss Mary Louise Johnson, Miss May Taylor, Miss Margaret Taylor, Miss Marie Cowan, Miss Gifford Davenport Wheeler, Miss Edith Bacon, Miss Anne Hight, Miss Minnie Veeder, Miss Zilla MacDougall, Miss Marjorie Gelm and Miss Laura Lejeune.

Capt. and Mrs. Craven are giving a dinner and dance for the group of young assistants, following the tea, and a number of young men, including some of the Navy officers stationed here, have been invited to join the party, numbering forty or more.

Miss Craven is perhaps the youngest debutante to be presented this year, being just seventeen, and it is an interesting fact that she passed her examinations for college before she was sixteen. She made her first appearance in society last season, when she attended the large reception given for his majesty, the Prince of Wales, during his visit in Washington, when she was

Capt. and Mrs. C. C. Calhoun are entertaining at dinner tonight in honor of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Colby, the former, however, being absent in New York on official business.

Prof. and Mrs. Stimson J. Brown, who are spending the winter at Carvel Hall, Annapolis, will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Grant, 1026 16th street, over Thanksgiving day. Miss Elizabeth Bryson Pettit, the daughter of Mrs. Brown, who is a student at a Washington school, will also be with them. Miss Pettit will probably make her debut next season.

M. Paul Reynaud, of the French chamber of deputies, who spent several days in Washington at the Willard, left for New York this morning.

Lieut. Col. Thomas Gimpelring, U. S. A., and Mrs. Gimpelring have taken the residence 1736 Massachusetts avenue for the season, as Col. Gimpelring is now stationed here. Mrs. Gimpelring's daughter, Miss Gretchen Pritch, a student at a girls' school, is with them. Mrs. Campbell, widow of Col. Lafayette E. Campbell, U. S. A., mother of Mrs. Gimpelring, is also with them for the winter. She is the daughter of the late Gen. Frederick Dent, and was prominent in executive and official society here during the Grant administration.

Miss Virginia Sutherland will leave tomorrow for New Haven, where she will be the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William Hartman, whose marriage took place about two months ago. Miss Sutherland will attend the Army and Navy game, returning home next week.

The Pilgrim's ball at the New Willard Hotel tomorrow night for the benefit of the Episcopal Eye Ear and Throat Hospital will have several spectacular features of unusual beauty and interest and Washington society, official and resident, will attend. Mrs. Sara Lee Phillips, the mother-in-law of Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, has taken a box for tomorrow night, and Mrs. Cromwell Brooks has also taken a box. Men added to the floor committee include Mr. J. Miller Kenyon, Capt. Brooke Lee, Mr. Graham Hodges and Mr. W. J. Flather, Jr.

A large and brilliant audience thronged the Shubert-Garrick Theater last evening for the opening performance of "Honors Are Even," the new play by Roi Cooper Megrue. The Secretary of War and Mrs. Baker entertained the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Meredith and Mrs. John Stockwell of Cleveland and Miss Elizabeth Fress, who are their house guests. The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels had Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hamlin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woolley in their box; Mrs. Clara Sears Taylor had a party in her box with included Miss Mabel Bonnerman, Commissioner of the District of Columbia; Miss Mary Anderson, Mrs. Blair Banister, Mrs. Annette Adams, Mrs. Frances C. Axell and Mrs. Helen H. Gardener. Admiral and Mrs. William S. Benson had a box, as did the Secretary to the President and Mrs. Joseph Tunstall, Senator and Mrs. William S. Kenyon and Mrs. William

Courtesy of Rye-on-the-Hudson, who was formerly Miss Virginia Harrod. Mrs. Megrue, mother of the play-wright, and Mrs. Journey of New York were also in the boxes. Others in the audience included Maj. H. L. Gessford, Mrs. Charles J. Bell, Mrs. Loren Johnson, Gen. and Mrs. Charles B. Drake, Mrs. Francois Berger Morran, Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Fleming, Mrs. Julian James, Mrs. George Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Novins, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. George O. Vass, Miss Katherine Sellers and Mr. and Mrs. William Atherton Du Puy.

The United States minister to Rumania, Mr. Charles J. Vopicka, has as his guests at the Shoreham, his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevenson of Chicago.

Brides of Today.
A wedding of wide social interest will take place this evening at the Church of the Covenant, when Miss Elizabeth Harr, daughter of former Assistant Attorney General William R. Harr and Mrs. Harr, will become the bride of Mr. L. J. McMullin Perin of Williams, Ariz. The ceremony will be performed at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. Daniel E. Lorenz of New York, and a large reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, 36 Primrose street, Chevy Chase.

of the bride: Miss Audrey Virginia Daniel, daughter of Mrs. Percy L. Daniel of Falls Church, Va., who is the bride's god-mother, and Miss Ellen Littlepage.
